Agency Collection Fees

Frank Phillips College retains all legal remedies to collect unpaid tuition, fees, and other amounts due to the college for housing, return of federal and/or state funds, etc. Frank Phillips College uses a variety of methods to keep students informed of amounts due the college, including Student Portal, statements, and various forms of correspondence. It is the student's responsibility to remain aware of obligations to the college and to make payment on a timely basis.

If Frank Phillips College is unable to collect amounts due the college within a reasonable time, the debt may be referred to an outside collection agency and/or attorney for collection. All collection costs, including collection agency fees, attorney fees, and court costs will be charged to the student's account. Your application and registration each semester to Frank Phillips College includes your consent and approval of use of the personal information you provide to Frank Phillips College for the purpose of collecting any debt incurred while at Frank Phillips College. This includes the consent to contact you on your cellular phone, either manually or by automated dialing, by Frank Phillips College or by an agency hired by Frank Phillips College to collect on the debt.

Failure to pay all amounts due Frank Phillips College, including collection fees, may also result in various actions, including but not limited to withholding services and restricting the student's ability to register for class, participate in graduation, receive a transcript or diploma, or be considered for readmission to the college. The college also reserves the right to report both positive and negative payment histories to credit-reporting agencies. This agreement is in accordance with Texas state laws and shall be reviewed and enforceable under the same state laws in which Frank Phillips College resides as well for the purpose of venue selection.
